

Contents

CONTRIBUTORS	7
WINNERS OF ESSAY PRIZES	10
EDITORIAL	11
ARTICLES
Miraculous Rhetoric: The Relationship between Rhetoric and Miracles in the York 'Entry into Jerusalem' Frank Napolitano	15
'On yestern day, in Feverere, the yere passeth fully': On the Dating and Prosopography of Mankind John A. Geck	33
The Singing 'Vice': Music and Mischief in Early English Drama Maura Giles-Watson	57
A Dramaturgical Study of Merrythought's Songs in The Knight of the Burning Pestle Katrine K. Wong	91
Vengeance, Variously: Revenge Before Kyd in Early Elizabethan Drama Bradley J. Irish	117
'The house is hers, the soul is but a tenant': Material Self-Fashioning and Revenge Tragedy Sheetal Lodhia	135
'An honest dog yet': Performing The Witch of Edmonton Roberta Barker	163

ISSUES IN REVIEW: Early Modern English Drama and the Islamic World Contributing Editor: Linda McJannet	183
Islam and English Drama: A Critical History Linda McJannet	183
'In th'armor of a Pagan knight': Romance and Anachronism East of England in Book V of The Faerie Queene and Tamburlaine Justin Kolb	194
Guy of Warwick, Godfrey of Boullion, and Elizabethan Repertory Annaliese Connolly	207
'Now will I be a Turke': Performing Ottoman Identity in Thomas Goffe's The Courageous Turk Joel Elliot Slotkin	222
'By Mortus Ali and our Persian gods': Multiple Persian Identities in Tamburlaine and The Travels of the Three English Brothers Javad Ghatta	235